Julia, thank you for always taking time to personally acknowledge receipt of my “many” emails!

I am hopeful things will slow down a bit for all of us – now that would be a fabulous gift.

Thank you, again.

Happy holidays!

Kathy

Good morning. We want to share with you our Duke Energy Foundation newsletter that highlights over $500,000 in grants awarded this year. The newsletter also features water resource projects, new vehicle charging stations, and seasonal tips for the cold weather months.

Please let us know if you have any questions.

We wish you and your family a joyous holiday season.

Sincerely,

Kathy Hawkins

Protecting the Carolinas' waterways

Our 73 Water Resources projects have improved water quality, quantity and conservation, enhanced habitats, expanded public use and access and educated community members about their role in protecting water resources. We encourage you to learn more about our local communities' efforts to protect and restore our waterways and how you can support their efforts. Read more here.

Duke Energy sets the stage with over $500,000 in grants to support the North Carolina arts community

A dozen cultural and arts nonprofit organizations in North Carolina are receiving $524,500 in grants from the Duke Energy Foundation to support arts appreciation and educational programs that foster community vitality. The grants will help enhance arts, music, cultural and professional development programs, allowing organizations to continue strengthening and expanding their work within our communities. Piedmont Natural Gas, whose grant-making process is now part of the Duke Energy Foundation, contributed to several of the grants. Read more here.

<image011.jpg> May your holidays be bright, and your energy bills be light

Duke Energy offers holiday and seasonal money-saving tools and tips during the cold weather months. You can estimate holiday lighting costs using our Holiday Lighting Calculator. Read more here.
